KELLEY AND DAVIDSON WILL SOON KNOW FATE

Evidence All In and Argument of the Case Was Commenced Yesterday Afternoon.

(By Jesse E. Burtz.)

PALATKA, June 24.—(Special)—Taking of evidence in the Kelley-Davidson murder case was concluded today by the examination of five witnesses for the State in rebuttal of evidence given for the defense.

The opening argument for the State was by Col. Tom Palmer of Tampa, who spoke for three hours, followed by Judge Syd L. Carter, Col. J. N. Stripling and E. Noble Calhoun for the defense. Judge Carter and Col. Stripling both made exceptionally able arguments, which seemed to visibly impress the jury.

The case will be turned over to the jury after arguments by Hon. Robert W. Davis for defense and Solicitor Rivers for the State, and it is thought that the case will be submitted to the jury before the noon recess tomorrow.

WEDNESDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

PALATKA, June 24.—Notwithstanding that the famous case of the State of Florida vs. James M. Kelley and D. M. Davidson, charged with the murder of W. C. Sellars at High Springs, is coming to a close within the next two days, and that a majority of the evidence has been submitted, the case appears to still be a drawing card, and the court house is filled daily with spectators who appear anxious in either one way or another in the outcome of the trial.

Court opened Wednesday morning with the usual large crowd in attendance, and this crowd remained during both sessions, several refusing to go to their dinner in fear that they would lose their seats.

The court convened at 8:30 a. m., a half hour earlier than usual.

H. L. Thomas, first witness for the defense on Tuesday, was recalled by State for purpose of cross-examination.

Witness stated that he is a native of Augusta, Ga., is a machinist by trade, and was employed in the shops of the A. C. L. at High Springs for six or eight weeks prior to the killing of Sellars, and for several weeks after the homicide. Witness related practically the same story as related on the stand Tuesday. When asked by counsel for State if he had ever been convicted on any crime, witness replied that he had been convicted one time in Savannah, Ga., in 1900, for assault and battery upon the person of a negro.

Mrs. Smith Recalled.

Mrs. Fannie Smith was recalled. Stated that her husband was a machinist, and was employed in the shops of the A. C. L. at High Springs at the time of the killing of Sellars. Witness stated that she had resided in High Springs upon two occasions, the first time in 1903-4, the last time in 1906. She testified that her husband was also a jeweler, but denied that he was engaged in that business in Micanopy in 1906, when questioned on that point.

A. L. Perry resides at Adel, Ga. Resided in Waycross, Ga., in 1906. Was flagman on A. C. L. between Waycross and High Springs. Was in High Springs on the night Sellars was shot. Was standing on station platform with a number of men, among whom was Davidson. Two men, one of whom was Mr. Smith, came up and they appeared to be armed with guns. Smith called Davidson off, and the trio walked away. In a short time the guns were fired, and, believing that Davidson had been shot, witness ran to the restaurant and reported same. A few seconds later Davidson followed him into the restaurant, exclaiming that a man had been shot, and suggested that "we go and see if we can find the man who did it." Kelley was in the restaurant at the time witness rushed in.

J. W. McIlvaine was in High Springs the night of killing of Sellars. Was employed in Davidson's restaurant, and was in the restaurant, on duty, at the time the guns were fired. Kelley was in the restaurant, seated at a table, where he had ordered his supper. There were also several others in the restaurant, but witness could not remember all their names.

Immediately after the report of the guns someone rushed into the restaurant and reported that Davidson was killed. He was busy, and did not recognize the man. In a half minute Davidson entered, reported a man was shot, and he, with others, went to the scene. Witness then armed himself.

Upon cross-examination witness denied that he was walking on the railroad track previous to shooting on night Sellars was killed, or that he had on his person, or fired a gun. He also denied having been attired in a rain coat at any time that night. When asked if he did not leave High Springs for Archer the following day, witness replied that he did not, but remained in High Springs for about two months.

B. B. Hopson a Witness.

B. B. Hopson was in High Springs in March of this year. He had a conversation with Peter Burkhardt. Witness and Burkhardt were both employed by the Atlantic Coast Line. In conversation witness stated in substance that Burkhardt told him he "stood in" with the "big fish" of the railroad, and had a life-long job in black and white, and if he (witness) would get in, he (Burkhardt) could arrange matters all right. Burkhardt, so witness stated, wanted him to testify against Kelley. Burkhardt told witness that there would probably be others implicated, intimating Davidson, and asked witness how he and Davidson stood, when witness replied that he (witness) had "cut him out." Witness told Burkhardt he would see him later.

On cross-examination, witness stated that he and Burkhardt had at one time a little trouble, but it was not serious and was amicably adjusted.

Jim Cloud of High Springs said upon one occasion, after killing, Burkhardt approached him and asked him what he was doing, to which witness replied that he was out of employment. Burkhardt then told him he would give him a job if he (witness) would do as he told him. Witness wanted to know the nature of the duties Burkhardt expected of him, when Burkhardt replied that friends of Kelley were going to try and prove that he (Kelley) was in Davidson's restaurant when the gun which killed Sellars was fired; and that he (Burkhardt) wanted witness to swear that he was in the restaurant at that time, and that Kelley was not there. Witness then turned and left Burkhardt.

When asked if he was in the restaurant at the time Burkhardt wanted him to swear he was, witness replied that he was not.

Dr. J. O. Collier, a dentist of High Springs, was next called, and related the subject of a conversation between himself and Burkhardt early in April of the present year in High Springs, in which Burkhardt told him that he had been reinstated by A. C. L. under agreement that he would tell the truth against Kelley and Davidson in this case. Burkhardt had previously lost his position on the railroad. Burkhardt also told witness that he had applied to Davidson for a job before returning to the railroad for employment, but was refused.

D. B. Taylor, manager of the High Springs Ice Manufacturing Co., related a similar story regarding what Burkhardt had told him.

Davidson's Daughter Testifies.

Mrs. Emma Edmondson, daughter of D. M. Davidson, one of the defendants, was placed on the stand. Witness was in High Springs on the night Sellars was killed, and heard the shots. She was seated on the front piazza of her father's home. J. H. Fields was seated with her. Fields related to witness that there was a "spotter" in town from Tampa, who had been sent to break up a lot of car stealing, and that he would not be surprised if there should be some trouble that night. When the report of the gun was heard Fields arose and exclaimed: "There! I expect somebody is shot!"

On cross-examination, witness stated that Fields came to her home about an hour and a half before the killing; that upon hearing report of the gun he left and went in the direction of the shooting; and that he returned to her home about thirty minutes later and informed her that Sellars had been shot.

Witness stated that she was engaged to be married to Fields at that time.

The court took a recess for a few moments, after which Walter A. McNally, bookkeeper for the El Perfecto Cigar Manf. Co., Palatka, was called. Witness resided in Savannah; knew D. W. Jernigan, one of the witnesses for the State. At this juncture Jernigan was produced before the witness, and was identified. Witness testified that Jernigan's reputation for truth and veracity at the time he (witness) was in Savannah was bad.

S. R. McDowell was a resident of High Springs at the time Sellars was shot, and was employed as a meat cutter by Davidson. Did not know Sellars personally, and did not know he had been shot until the following morning.

J. L. Shaw, a State witness, was recalled by request of defense, and questioned as to a conversation between himself and one C. C. Martin in Lake City, regarding this case. When asked if he did not tell Martin upon the occasion referred to that some people in High Springs had it in for him (the witness) and that he intended to get even with Kelley and Davidson in this case, witness replied that he did not.

Court took a recess until 2 o'clock p. m.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session was called to order at 2:15, the prisoners being a few moments delayed on account of a conference with their lawyers.

J. M. Smith, State's witness, was recalled by request of defense. Witness stated he saw Kelley about five minutes after the shooting of Sellars. He knew Berry Daniels, and was questioned regarding a certain conversation he had with Daniels.

Berry Daniels resides in Waycross, Ga. Is an engineer in employ of Atlantic Coast Line, and on June 6 J. M. Smith told him that he (Smith) was in the waiting room three minutes after Sellars was shot.

Kelley on the Stand.

James M. Kelley, one of the defendants, was placed on the stand.

Kelley stated that he was sent to High Springs on July 12, 1906, as night engine foreman. Arrived in High Springs at 6 o'clock on the same date, and assumed his duties immediately. Kelley described minutely his movements on the day and night preceding the killing of Sellars, and proved a most interesting witness both to the jury and the spectators, as was evident from the close attention paid his remarks. Witness stated that his regular hour to go

DUTY ON PINEAPPLES INCREASED BY SENATE

Senator Taliaferro Succeeds In His Fight For Protection of Florida Growers.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Pineapples were again brought into prominence before the Senate yesterday. The duty on pineapples in bulk was fixed by the House at $8 a thousand, which was reduced by the Senate committee on finance to $7. Mr. Taliaferro of Florida sought to restore the House rate. Saying that pineapples could be imported from Cuba at 50 cents a thousand cheaper than they could be grown in the United States even with the $8 duty added, Mr. Taliaferro disclaimed any desire for a protective duty. He wanted this duty, he said, because it would increase the revenue.

He said that the duty on pineapples would be doubled so that, as even the importation from Cuba would not be reduced, we would get $200,000 in the way of duties instead of $100,000 as now.

Mr. Taliaferro yielded, as he said, the floor "to those gentlemen who propose to speak for the canners." He looked towards the two Maryland Senators, who were waiting to address the Senate, and succeeded in getting a "rise" from both of them. In rather indignant tones Mr. Rayner asserted that he should not appear for the canners but for the consumers. Mr. Smith said he spoke for no special interest, but for humanity.

Mr. Rayner criticised the rate of one-half of one cent a pound on pineapples when in crates or barrels, involved in the amendment of the Florida Senator as being equal to 32 cents a crate instead of 14 cents under the Dingley law. Mr. Rayner said he would prove Mr. Taliaferro was advocating a high protective tariff.

"I hope the Senator will offer his proof in this slander or say no more about it," said Mr. Taliaferro.

Quoting from a letter from the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Shippers' Protective Association, in support of the increased rate, Mr. Rayner showed that it was asked for as a protective duty.

Insisting that a higher rate of duty was needed to make the pineapple industry prosperous in Florida, Mr. Fletcher of Florida became involved in the controversy. He had hesitated to place his advocacy of the higher duty on any ground except that of a revenue producer, and Mr. Dixon and Mr. Jones suggested that he was losing their support because they were only inclined to vote for his amendment as a policy of protecting an American industry.

Mr. Fletcher's Position.

"I am going to place the matter before the Senate upon its merits," responded Mr. Fletcher, "and any Senator can figure it for himself whether he votes for it for one reason or for another reason."

Opposing what he regarded as the "enormous increase of duty on pineapples," Senator Root referred to the relations of this country with Cuba, saying they were such as should influence the national policy in the laying of tariff duties on Cuban products.

Under the treaty of 1903, he said, the exports of this country to Cuba had increased from $27,000,000 to $47,000,000 or 84 per cent in five years, and he contended that we should reciprocate such liberal purchases of our products by giving the Cubans such advantages as we can on their exportations to this country.

Our imports from Cuba, Mr. Root said, had increased in those years but 9 per cent., and he thought that was a fair showing of increase in trade in favor of this country. To enter into a treaty with Cuba granting 20 per cent preference to imports from Cuba and then raise the duty on such an article as pineapples he thought was not fairly dealing with the island.

Mr. Warren asked Mr. Root whether he expected the United States would again send an army to Cuba if needed without requiring the island to pay the expenses.

Saying he could not determine such a question in advance, Mr. Root declared that the protective advantage of our relations with Cuba far outweighed any expense that the United States had been put to in connection with the island.

"Did Cuba give us the preference when she bought $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 worth of rifles from Germany?" inquired Mr. Scott.

Mr. Root said that the Cubans had been accustomed to buying from Europe and he thought the country was doing very well in increasing its trade with the United States to the extent that it was doing.

"We must keep Cuba free, independent and peaceful, or else we shall face the alternative of letting Cuba go to some foreign power, which we never can permit or to take it ourselves, which I hope we never shall do," he declared.

By 34 to 30, Senator Taliaferro's amendment was adopted. This was a defeat for the finance committee.

The amendment provides a duty of $8 per thousand on pineapples or a half a cent per pound in bulk.

on duty was 6 o'clock in the evening. On the same day that Sellars was shot he arose at the usual time in the afternoon, and was on the minute to assume his regular work. He described minutely the movements of himself and crew during the early evening, and up to the time he placed the engine on the scales, about one hundred yards distant from where the shooting occurred. When the engine had been placed on the scales, he left immediately and went to Davidson's restaurant to get something to eat. This was about 11 o'clock, or as near as he could arrive at the hour. On his way to the restaurant he passed Davidson and two or three other men standing near the passenger depot platform, but thought nothing unusual of it, as people were always standing in the vicinity of the depot. He went to the restaurant, where a man by the name of McIlvaine was on duty. He ordered something to eat. There were several men in the restaurant whom he noticed casually, but could not recall all their names. While he was seated at the table, a few moments after he came in, and was waiting for his supper, he heard two shots, and in an instant some person whom he did not recognize rushed in the door and exclaimed: "Boys, Shorty Davidson (referring to D. M. Davidson) is shot." There was some confusion, but in an instant Davidson arrived with the information that a man had been shot at the depot, and Davidson suggested that a crowd be organized to go down and see if they could not find the man who did the shooting. The witness, with others, immediately left the restaurant and went to the scene of the shooting, where he saw a man laying down. The man was wounded. He did not even know the man, and asked his name. He assisted in picking him up and placing him on a stretcher.

On cross-examination witness stated

ed that he did not know Sellars, and did not know that he was working for the railroad. He was comparatively a stranger in High Springs himself, and knew very few people there. To his knowledge, that was the first time he had ever seen Sellars.

The defendant stoutly denied that he had ever told any person (referring to questions as to testimony given by previous witnesses for the State) that he killed Sellars, and denounced as absolutely false any statement which would tend to indicate that he did so. Regarding the testimony of one D. W. Jernigan, a State witness of Savannah who stated that on two or three occasions Kelley had told him the story of the homicide, the defendant witness declared that no such conversation between himself and Jernigan ever occurred, as alleged by the witness, Jernigan. He admitted that he had known Jernigan for a number of years, and that upon two occasions, while he was in Jacksonville, he did visit Jernigan, but on both occasions he had a companion with him. He did have a conversation at each time regarding the Sellars homicide, but on both occasions he told Jernigan that he knew nothing about it, only that it was the general supposition around High Springs that some party or parties had followed him from Tampa to High Springs and "fixed the job," as Sellars had been in some difficulties in Tampa. He related to Jernigan that he did not know Sellars at the time of the homicide, but that he had heard that he had been in High Springs only a short time—in fact, not sufficiently long to make any enemies strong enough to take revenge with his life. Kelley stated that he had ever since his arrest been trying to locate this companion, but had not been able to do so.

Witness testified that he remained in High Springs until December after the killing of Sellars in August of the same year, all of the time of which he was in the employ of the Atlantic Coast Line. From High Springs he went to Savannah to see his wife and son, where he was subsequently retained by the railroad. In November, 1907, he secured a thirty-day leave of absence, and was en route for a little outing on the East Coast when arrested in Jacksonville on the charge of the murder of W. C. Sellars.

Asked by the attorney for the State if he had ever been convicted of a crime, defendant witness replied that he had been convicted of the crime of murder in an open combat in the day-time, but that he had received an unconditional pardon, after serving some time in prison.

D. M. Davidson Testifies.

D. M. Davidson, indicted jointly with James M. Kelley for the murder of Sellars, next took the stand.

Davidson testified that on the night of the killing he left his home and came down town, proceeding to the restaurant he was conducting at the time. He met Mr. Sellars on the platform, but did not know him at that time. This was on the platform, or near the platform, of the passenger station of the Atlantic Coast Line. Sellars accosted him, asking him if he (Davidson) couldn't direct him to Dr. Rankin. Witness gave him the desired information and went on, thinking nothing more about it. About 11 o'clock he was again in the vicinity of the platform, which was conveniently near his restaurant, where he met and had a brief chat with several men, employees of the railroad. While he was there Sellars and J. M. Smith came up, and appeared to be a little bit restless. They called him, and one of the men (he had forgotten which) told him that there was a mysterious movement of some men at the depot, and they feared trouble. Witness suggested that it might be someone who was trying to break in the depot for robbery, upon which suggestion Sellars asked him for advice. Witness suggested that as there were several tables, boxes, etc., in the office they could go in there and conceal themselves, and if there was anything like a "deal" on to rob the freight house, they (Sellars and Smith) would have the advantage, and could easily "hold them up," or words to that effect.

While the three men (Davidson, Sellars and Smith) were together talking over the situation, someone passed. The witness attention was called to the passing of this man, and Davidson said, "That is a negro," to which all agreed. A short time later, while Davidson, Sellars and Smith were still together, but moving around, the shot was fired which penetrated Sellars' side and caused his death.

The three men were standing close together when the shot was fired, and the witness described the respective positions of the men. Sellars was in a position where he was exposed most prominently to the contents of the gun; Smith at the time of the shot was between the witness and Sellars, but as soon as the shot was fired, or within a very short time afterwards, witness explained to the jury how it was that Smith worked him so quickly into a hazardous position, when he cried: "Smith, for God's sake don't shoot me."

Smith had a gun. It was a shot gun, and he had it in his right hand, barrel pointed downward, when the shot from behind the flat car was fired. Smith endeavored to get his gun leveled in position to fire, and in the meantime, the defendant witness having gone to the assistance of Sellars, had placed himself in a position between Sellars and himself, and in almost direct range of Smith's gun. Fearing that in this excitement Smith might shoot him, he cautioned him in the manner as stated.

The defendant witness stoutly denied the statement of all witnesses implicating him in this homicide. He denied all inferences of witnesses that he had been connected with the homicide in any way, and denounced the testimony of all witnesses to the contrary as absolutely false, and without foundation in fact. He was particularly severe on some witnesses to whom he stated that he had been especially kind on occasions when these witnesses needed financial assistance, which he gladly granted on account of personal feeling and friendship.

The defendant witness stated that he was for seven or eight years connected with the Atlantic Coast Line in the capacity of special agent, but that he "lost out" about 1905, with a friend who held a higher position. It was no fault of either he or his friend that he "lost out." He was filling a responsible and conservative position with the Atlantic Coast Line, and no reason was assigned for his dismissal.

Davidson was subjected to a rigid cross-examination by the prosecution, but he was firm in his original statement. He did say, in reply to a question as to whether he was ever convicted of any crime, that he had pleaded guilty one time to selling liquor in Alachua county without a license, but added that when a defendant was arraigned upon this charge that it was cheaper to plead guilty and pay the fine and costs of the court than to have the expenses of a lawyer.

Sellars' Relatives Present.

During the morning session Mrs. Mattie Sellars, widow of W. C. Sellars, and L. O. Sellars, brother of the murdered man, appeared in court, and remained during the entire day's session. Mrs. Sellars is a petite little blonde, small in stature but with a most attractive appearance. She is blessed with a generous flow of waving chestnut hair and a pair of blue eyes which are very becoming, and she attracted considerable attention as she entered the court room with her brother, L. O. Sellars, and took her seat immediately in the rear of Col. Tom Palmer, who is assisting State Attorney Rivers in the prosecution. The court room was crowded, but many chairs were volunteered to the little lady and her escort as they entered the rail. Mrs. Sellars appeared to manifest a deep interest in the proceedings.

At the conclusion of Davidson's testimony the defense rested, and the court adjourned until 8:30 Thursday morning, when evidence in rebuttal on the part of the State will be taken up.

the wedding of Miss Myrtle, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Washington Fennell, and Dr. George Selden Waldo.

The marriage was solemnized at the First Methodist church on Wednesday afternoon, June 23, at 2 o'clock.

The church had been tastefully decorated for this occasion and was beautiful in its simplicity. The chancel presented a very graceful and airy appearance with potted palms and ferns, while above it from the organ loft towered stately banana palms, the altar rail being festooned with ivy, and garlands of satin ribbons and smilax, caught up with white blossoms, enclosed the pews for the guests of honor. The windows having been previously darkened and the church brilliantly lighted, the crowning effect was added by a number of burning tapers gleaming from a pyramid of ferns within the chancel.

The organ was presided over by Mrs. T. Denby of Jacksonville, a life long friend from whom the bride received almost her entire musical education, and Miss Christine Richards with her sweet accompaniments on the violin, added much to the music.

For twenty minutes preceding the ceremony the audience was favored by sweet selections from the musicians. "The Bridal Chorus," from "Rose Maiden," being rendered just before the entrance of the bridal party.

Just at the appointed hour to the familiar strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, entered the bridal party. First came the ushers, Messrs. K. H. Graham, W. T. Pound, J. C. Adkins and W. D. Sheppard, entering by both aisles. Following these in the left aisle was the maid-of-honor, Miss Alma, only sister of the bride, who was a vision of loveliness in pink crepe de chine with trimmings of embroidered net. She wore a becoming bonnet of pink chiffon with graceful streamers looped on the side, and carried pink carnations.

The flower girls, pretty little Misses Virginia Dale and Dorothy McClamrock, in dresses of dainty white, bearing baskets twined with smilax and ribbon and filled with pink rose petals, preceded the bride, who came in on the arm of her father, who gave her away, and they were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. W. M. Dale, who entered from a side door on the right.

The beautiful marriage service of the Methodist Church was performed by Rev. Francis R. Bridges in a very impressive manner. During the ceremony "Evening Star," from "Tannhauser," was softly played.

Mendelssohn's Wedding March being taken up again, the party left the church and repaired to their carriages, where they tarried a moment for congratulations.

The bride's gown, in semi-princess style, en train, was a lovely creation of white satin. The paneled front was handsomely braided with tiny satin puffings, studded with hand embroidered roses of satin and chiffon and from the berth, which was similarly trimmed, fell a heavy silk fringe. She wore a picture hat of fluted valenciennes lace, with long willow plumes caught in a knot of chiffon and a buckle, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and asparagus fern with streamers of tulle.

The groom looked handsome in the conventional black suit.

The mother of the bride wore a costume of pearl gray silk tissue with white applique.

The popularity of the couple was attested by the large crowd that gathered at the station to express their best wishes, and by the numerous beautiful and costly presents they received.

The bride has lived here since childhood and is a great favorite in social circles. She is a talented musician, and since graduating in music several years ago has had charge of the organ of the First Methodist church.

While the groom has only lived in Gainesville for about two years, he has established for himself a fine practice in his profession of dentistry, and has proved quite an acquisition to society.

Dr. and Mrs. Waldo left on the 3:30 train over the A. C. L. for a short tour of the State, after which they will be at home to their friends at the Chapman cottage, 701 N. University street.

The bride's going-away costume was a tailored suit of straw-colored pongee trimmed in brown satin bands and ecru lace, with hat and parasol to match.

It is Now Lieut. Taylor.

Lieut. Roy Taylor, who has been absent from the city for the past two years attending West Point Military Academy, has returned to his home in this city. He was one of the successful graduates and after a three-months' furlough in Gainesville visiting relatives will leave to be assigned to his station, which will very likely be in the Philippine Islands.

SURE CATARRH CURE

Brings the Forests of Pine and Eucalyptus to Your Home.

Germs cannot live when Hyomel (pronounced High-o-me) is used. You just breathe in this soothing yet most powerful antiseptic air and relief is immediate. It is exactly the same air as you would breathe in the forests of pine and eucalyptus of Australia where catarrh or consumption was never known to exist.

If you have catarrh and are constantly embarrassed because you must hawk, spit and snuffle, surely you will give Hyomel the attention it deserves, when J. W. McCollum & Co. will guarantee this pleasant remedy to cure all this distress and humiliation, or will give you your money back. Hyomel kills catarrh germs, it relieves the soreness and distress in five minutes. It stops hawking and snuffling and makes you feel like a new man in a week. It is the surest and most satisfactory catarrh treatment known and gives comfort and relief to consumptives.

A complete outfit, including inhaler, costs but $1.00, and extra bottles, if afterward needed, cost but 50c. A few minutes' time each day is all you need to quickly cure the most chronic case. Hyomel is sold by leading druggists.

Through the efforts of Mr. Aldrich and his followers tariff revision is likely to be made a synonym for tariff deception.

It is not strange that former Senator Mills of Texas fails to recognize any of the old familiar landmarks of a real tariff fight.

If some of the men who expend all their energies to accumulate colossal wealth could foresee how it would be employed in the second and third generation they might not strive so hard to such an end.

A GREEN OLD AGE.

This has often been called the young man's age and a good deal is said of the "dead line" of life, an imaginary line beyond which it is popularly supposed a man's usefulness is gone or greatly impaired. But in truth the line is a shifting and indefinite one, for some people pass it early in life while others seem never to reach it. Indeed, whenever the line does exist it is mainly of one's own creation. If one thinks he is useless or old it means that he has reached the "dead line." But many men enjoy a perennial youthfulness of mind and purpose and it shows itself in optimistic ways—in unimpaired mental faculties, in constant usefulness and in an unabated interest in what is going on in the world.

A conspicuous and distinguished example of this was Edward Everett Hale, the eminent divine who died the other day in his eighty-eighth year. As clergyman and author his life was one unending round of activity and at the time of his death he was chaplain of the United States Senate, a position he had held for years. By his works, many of which were written late in life, he exerted a widespread and wholesome influence upon society. Especially was this true of his "Ten Times One Is Ten."

But history, past and present, furnishes innumerable instances in statesmanship, literature and every other vocation of men who retained their power and influence to the last, and in not a few cases their best work was done late in life. A man may be in the "yellow leaf" in youth, as Byron mournfully said of himself in his thirty-sixth year, or his leaf may remain to the very end the freshness and vitality of the springtime. It all depends on how a man views and uses life.

It is a strange story which comes from Constantinople that among the secret archives of Abdul Ahmed were found proofs that the French and Russian ambassadors to Turkey were in his pay. Hitherto, while consuls and other officials have not always proved superior to temptation, the chief diplomatic representatives of a nation have been above suspicion. This leads to the hope that the present story may prove false. Yet the cunning and intrigue and the corrupting influence of Abdul were notorious, and it is equally notorious that Russian officials of all kinds are very susceptible to bribes. If the story proves true it will probably throw some light on some Turkish relations with other powers that have been a puzzle.

Report has it that Col. Bryan and Senator LaFollette have formed a new independent party in Minnesota to wrest that State from Governor Johnson. Col. Bryan should not permit his jealousy of the popularity of such men as Governors Johnson of Minnesota and Harmon of Ohio to influence him in combining with independent Republicans to destroy their influence. The Democratic party has been exceedingly kind to Col. Bryan, and he should accord to others the privilege of seeking the nomination for the Presidency. He certainly can never hope to be elected President if he joins with independent Republicans to defeat such leaders as Johnson and Harmon.

Nebraska University has refused to accept money from John D. Rockefeller. These are the things which convince us that the depression is over.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all druggists, 75 cents. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

One of the greatest advantages ever instituted to the people of Florida is the silos which are now being operated more extensively throughout this section, and which will save many thousands of dollars to the people here if they will but adopt this rule generally.

Davis & Oliver have some forty acres planted in sorghum alone which they will use in this manner, and they will save not less than $5,000 on feed by this process. All parties that have cattle to feed should pay a visit to one of their places.

They have put up a gas engine and chopper which cuts the roughage up and places it in the receiver at any distance, and is an invention well worth the time to examine. Besides the one now in operation by Davis & Oliver there is one in course of erection at the Diamond Ice factory, and Stringfellow & Colclough are also having one built, while numbers of others are contemplating erecting them.

The Western farmers are enabled to ship all of their hay and grain here and use the stalks for their stock, which makes them money that Florida should keep at home.

A HARD STRUGGLE

Many a Gainesville Citizen Finds the Struggle Hard.

With a back constantly aching. With distressing urinary disorders. Daily existence is but a struggle. No need to keep it up. Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you. Gainesville people endorse this claim:

Mrs. Eliz. Ratherree, 201 W. McCormick street, Gainesville, Fla., says: "For years I suffered from dragging pains in my back, often so severely that I could not move. The secretions from my kidneys were also irregular in passage and caused me further annoyance. Any cold I contracted aggravated my trouble and at such times I was in misery. A friend finally advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I did so. The first few doses gave me relief and when I had taken the contents of one box, the pains disappeared and my kidneys became normal. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and I am glad to give them the credit."

HOUSE DESTROYED THURSDAY.

Home of Walter McMillan Was Complete Loss by Fire.

The building occupied by Walter McMillan, in North Gainesville, known as the old Pardee place, was totally destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon, very few citizens of the city knowing of the occurrence until after the home had been burned.

The loss of all furniture and household effects to Mr. McMillan will fall heavily upon him, as it is understood that neither the house or goods were insured.

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt. — "I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter." — MRS. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D. Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, ulceration, local weaknesses, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

Buddinger Buildings Commenced.

The Big Head

Is of two kinds—conceit and the big head that comes from a sick headache. Does your head ever feel like a gourd and your brain feel loose and sore? You can cure it in no time by acting on your liver with Ballard's Herbine. Isn't it worth trying for the absolute and certain relief you'll get? Sold by W. M. Johnson.

The First National Bank.

The statement of the condition of the First National Bank appears in this issue of The Sun, to which your attention is directed. It is one of the oldest institutions of the city and shows a steady gain with each report. Their total resources are now over $939,000 and are still increasing.

STOPPED THE NOISE.

A Chemist's Suggestion to a Maker of Prussian Blue.

The great German chemist, Liebig, related that when he was a young man a manufacturer of prussian blue who was showing him through the works drew his attention to the deafening noise made by certain comminuting and mixing machines. These machines consisted of large iron mortars in which iron pestles were actuated by machinery. The pestles pounded the materials to a fine condition and mixed them. On Liebig's suggesting that some means ought to be devised to prevent the terrible din made by the machines the manufacturer told him that it was a singular fact that the more noise the pestles made the better was the blue produced. It happens that in making prussian blue iron is a necessary constituent of the mixture, a fact that did not seem to be thoroughly appreciated by the manufacturer. He was therefore much surprised when Liebig told him that the iron which was necessary to produce the color was rubbed off his machinery, the most extravagant way to supply it. He understood for the first time, moreover, why it was that the greater the noise from the friction of the pestles in the mortars the better the blue produced. He thus learned in an expensive way that it was better manufacturing to put iron into the mixture than to grind it off high priced machinery.—Frederick J. Maywald in American Industries.

Men Past Fifty in Danger.

Men past middle life have found comfort and relief in Foley's Kidney Remedy, especially for enlarged prostate gland, which is very common among elderly men. L. E. Morris, Dexter, Ky., writes: "Up to a year ago my father suffered from kidney and bladder trouble and several physicians pronounced it enlargement of the prostate gland and advised an operation. On account of his age we were afraid he could not stand it and I recommended Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the first bottle relieved him, and after taking the second bottle he was no longer troubled with this complaint." TWO PIANOS AND A DIAMOND RING

Total Cash Value, $1,000.00

To Be Given Away by the Merchants and The Sun to Citizens of Alachua County!

Each Section Gets Prizes!

Contest to Close August 18, 1909

Realizing that all should share alike in the distribution, leading business houses have joined in the combination to give away Two Handsome Pianos and One Diamond Ring to residents of Alachua county in three different sections. These progressive firms will give One Vote for each penny spent with them.

In the event of a tie for any prize offered, a prize similar in all respects there-to will be given each of those tying.

THE A. R. HARPER PIANO CO. of Jacksonville, from whom the pianos for this contest were purchased, have agreed to offer extra prizes as follows: To the first five candidates in each district, excepting the winners of the capital prizes in the said districts, one certificate each for $100.00 which will be redeemable in cash as a payment on any piano handled by them—the Everett, Harvard, Dayton or John Church Pianos. In addition to this they will give a certificate good for $25 to all other contestants in the race, and will make special arrangements with anyone to take care of their paper on all purchases of instruments at the cash price.

The Gainesville Section Will embrace the city and suburbs and be confined to a radius of four miles in each direction. The winner in this district will be awarded a HANDSOME DIAMOND RING.

Eastern and Southern Section Will comprise territory from Fairbanks all points east and from Rochelle all points south—Waldo, Hawthorn, Island Grove, Campville, Micanopy, Lake View, Tacoma and all points along line of T. & J. Ry. ONE PIANO.

Western and Northern Section Will comprise all stations from Hague to High Springs, Trenton, Wannee, Wilcox, Bell, Newberry, Jonesville, Archer and all settlements covered by this area. ONE PIANO.

Capt. Edgell Here.

Capt. A. B. Edgell of Alachua was a welcome visitor to The Sun office yesterday. He is a native of Vermont, but has been a resident of this county for nearly forty years, and is what the natives term an "Old Timer." Capt. Edgell was for years the leading merchant of Old Newnansville in its palmy days, and is still engaged in business in that section, but only on a small scale—just enough to keep his mind occupied. He has not been North for eight years now, and says that he finds his Florida home much more comfortable in the summer time than it is in Vermont.

A Correction.

The Sun was misinformed Thursday when it stated that Mrs. Fielding, mother of Col. Thos. W. Fielding, had died at her home at Lake Butler. The lady, who is in her sixty-eighth year, was seriously ill, however, and her son was summoned to her bedside by telegram. He returned to the city last night, and reports that while she is still confined to her bed, the patient is considerably improved, and strong hopes are entertained for her recovery. This will be pleasing news to his many friends here and elsewhere.

Cordele Wins From Ocala.

In the ball game between the Ocala and Cordele, Ga., teams in the Brick City yesterday, the Georgia boys came out victorious by a score of 3 to 2. The game was largely attended and much interest shown by the local "rooters."

Hicks' CAPUDINE Cures Sick Headache

Also Nervous Headache, Travelers' Headache and aches from Grip, Stomach Troubles or Female troubles. Try Capudine—it's liquid—effects immediately. Sold by druggists.

Misses Ruth Scarratt and Ralphie Wilson left yesterday for points in Tennessee, where they will remain during the summer months on their annual outing. They were accompanied as far as Jacksonville by W. N. Wilson.
